2024-2025

BUDGET PLANNING & STRATEGIC DIRECTION

---

This document provides information on Mount Allison University's budget for the 2024-25 fiscal year.

Mount Allison has budgeted a deficit in its operating fund for the past five years and will do so again in 2024-25. During these years, the University has invested in academic programs, recruitment and student services. These efforts have resulted in modest improvement in enrolment but the increases in spending have been greater. The ongoing need to invest in academic programs, including new offerings, properly support student services, as well as our faculty and staff and maintain our physical and information technology infrastructure continues to be a challenge.

Compounding this challenge, the federal government implemented changes to the visa application process for international students in January of 2024 affecting every Canadian university and college. Mount Allison expects that these changes will have a significant negative effect on international enrolment that will not only impact the experience of our students at large but the University's finances and the economy of the surrounding communities.

Prior to the changes announced by the federal government, the University expected an increase in enrolment and a decrease in the yearly deficit. While there is great uncertainty, we now expect significantly less new international students and an increase in the deficit. If the federal government limits their proposed changes to the two years that have been stated, the effect on Mount Allison will last for 5-6 years.

Yearly operating deficits cannot be sustained over the long term. The 2024-25 budget mitigates the short-term impact of these external challenges by limiting new expenditures; however, their effect will persist for several years.

OPERATING BUDGET: REVENUES

The operating budget for 2024-25 reflects a $1.4 million deficit before the impact of the new federal government policy on international students.
